

Professor Melba Pearson

Melba Pearson is a civil rights and criminal law attorney who works in the Center for the Administration of Justice. She serves as the Center's Policy Director overseeing technical assistance, training, and community engagement efforts. Her primary assignment is the MacArthur Foundation-funded Prosecutorial Performance Indicators' project, which aims to improve prosecutorial offices' efficiency, effectiveness and fairness through research, technical assistance, and communications support.